INDIANAPOLIS-AREA CREATIVE FIRM RELOCATES TO N.W. OHIO

Elden Creative Group brings design & marketing know-how to area

Edgerton, Ohio — Anderson, Indiana-based creative firm Elden Creative Group has relocated to Edgerton, Ohio, principal owner Christian Elden said Tuesday. The company was founded in 2009.

Elden Creative Group specializes in graphic and web design, branding, illustration and marketing. Although the company is now based in Edgerton, it actively serves clients from across the country. "We've built a great client base in and around the Indianapolis area, but it was really about being closer to family for me," said Elden, a 1998 Edgerton High School graduate. "We still plan to serve the Indianapolis market and beyond going forward, while reaching out to new local clients here."

ECG serves mostly small and medium sized businesses, but Elden notes they have also done work for two companies listed on the Inc. 500, including consumer review giant Angie's List.

Elden, who holds a degree in graphic design from Huntington University, hopes to have the business in a position to add team members in the near future. "It's always been my goal to get so busy that we'd need to hire local talent, and that hasn't changed," he said. "I love it here and I'm excited about the possibilities."
